So it is correct to say the war department is ready to invade Mexico at a moments notice, but it is no more ready to invade Mexico than it is to repel invaders from across the ocean. It has standing orders with the principal railroads and steamship lines by which it can begin moving an army within 24 hours. It has ready for instant transportation the supplies and munitions of war to support such an army in a campaign.

Mexican Who Deserted to Nogales Telis Why He Left Madero's Army; Will Go Back,

Nogales, Ariz, Sept. 9.—The Mexican oldier who was arrested on United States soil by Mexican officers and speedily returned to Arizona on demand of Capt Van Leer, commanding officer of the Fourth cavalry in Noofficer of the Fourth cavalry in Nogales, stated to the American officials that he had been in the Mexican army for six and a half years, and during that time had not been given an opportunity to visit his family near Mexico City, and that, desiring to see them, he had made up his mind to desert and come to the United States. After having been interrogated by the army and immigration officials, who told him that he was at liberty to remain in the criminal in his record, he stated that that be was at liberty to remain in the United States as there was nothing criminal in his record, he stated that after he had been taken to Mexico he had talked with his colonel and the colonel had promised to attempt to secure a furlough for him in order that he might be able to visit his family, and that, having that promise, he was willing to return to his company in Nogales, Mexico, which he did as soon as released. The people of Nogales, ariz, are very much pleased with the prompt action of Capt. Van Leer, as a great deal of trouble has been caused by the Mexican army officers previously in their efforts to secure the return of descriting soldlers.

Numerous complaints have been received in Nogales, Ariz, by both the civil and federal officials to the effect that there was some contagious disease among the Mexican refugees at Washington camp, Duquesne and Lochiel, Ariz, Dr. A. L. Gustetter, United States marine bospital surgeon and quarantine officer at Nogales, made an investigation and it was found that all except about 20 children were in good health, the 26 in question having contagious eye diseases.

Lieut, Johnson, Fourth cavalry, who is stationed at Juquesne with a small detachment of troopers, has made a census of all the Mexican refugees, and states that the two expressidentes of Santa Cruz, who are now living in Duquesne with their families, are apparently the best of friends and no one would imagine that they are on different sides of the Mexican political fence, one of them having been presidente under the present government of Mcdero.

mies southwest of Olinaga, and his men descring him.

This report was received by Abram Molina, chief of the Mexican border secret service, from one of his men, who came from Marfa Sunday. The report was further conveyed to Molina by a report from Guadalupe that 12 rebels under Santiago Mexica, former rebel mayor of Juarez, had crossed to the American side at the Guadalupe ford as if trying to get away from the federals.

The report brought to the secret service man was that Col. Jose de la Cruz Sanchez was in Olinaga, Ortega was at Cuchillo Parado with a large fore, and Gen. Trucy Augert was approaching from the direction of Falcanir, where he had arrived by train to reinforce the battallon which engaged the rebels there last week.

According to the report, Orozco was in Immediate danger of being captured.

Mincs May Close Down.

Not only are American lives at Cananea believed to be in danger as a result of Sunday's operations by the rebels, but the mines must close down for lack of fuel within four days, mining engineers state.

Cananea is one of the most extensive copper mining centers in the world, and the Cananea Copper company is the richest corporation of its kind in Mexico. The railway destroyed by rebels runs from Naco on the American border to Cananea and is a part of the Southern Pacific of Mexico system.

In Cananea are about 500 American men and about 50 American women About 190 of these are American cowtoys from surrounding ranches. Recent threats of rebel leaders to attack Cananea now are taken seriously here in view of latest developments.

There are an federal troops in Cananea other than 60 left in the hospital when the federals evacuated the campa sew days ago. These are either sick or wounded and unable to assist in the protection of the place.

Campa Stops Americans.

Ariz, to Cananea. Will Leggitt, who is in the automobile business in Cananear, was stopped by Campa about two miles north of the dry farm. Campa had quite a conversation with him, asking him many questions regarding the strength of the federals in Cananea and Naco. If may had been sent out or were expected. Campa was with 25 of his men. All were well dressed, well mounted and had field glasses. "You can tell the press than I am sorry that they credit me and my men with molesting women and girls," said Campa. "True, there may be instances of robels assaulting girls and women, but I will not tolearte it. I, myself, have shot down six of my own men for that very thing. All I ask for is a square deal. I do not ask favors of the press; I do not expect them to uphold me or lend me their support, but all I ask is that my men and I be not faisely accused of any deed which would be a discredit to us. You may also say that I will see that foreigners are not molested."

Rebels are returning to El Paso from Orozco's ranks. Sunday and Monday everal followers of the rebel leader.

several followers of the rebel leader, who have been east of Juarez returned to El Paso. About all of the former municipal police of Juarez, many of the fiscal guards, customs men and the like who went out from Juarez, came in on the Southern Pacific to El Paso, embarking at Nulo station.

Others of the rebels are remaining on the Mexican side, but coming back toward Juarez. For the last few days there have been little bands in the vicinity of San Ignacio and Guadalupe and Menday, it was reported in El Paso, there was a small band of armed rebels within four miles of Juarez, but there has been no troop inovement from Juarez or any attempt of the federal forces to go out after them or investigate the report.

Among the rebels who have come back are Alvino Trejo, the rebel chief of police in Juarez, and Santiago Mestas, the rebel mayor of the Mexican town.

J. B. Bean, a rancher eight miles below Fort Hancock, arrived in El Paso Sunday evening with the report that 20 low Fort Hancock, arrived in El Paso Sunday evening with the report that 20 rebels were seen across the river from his ranch, where they were rounding up horses and shooting those which escaped.

Bean says it was reported at his ranch that at least 100 rebels were camped across the river opposite, and that the advance guard of the rebel force was expected at San Ignacio Sunday night. He says that three men were reported to have come across the river disarmed Saturday and to have taken the train for El Paso. They told the natives in that section that they had gone to San Ignacio to start a distillery, but it is believed they were rehel desarters.

Mr. Bean says that no raiding has been done on the American side and that the border is being patroled by American cavalry troops. American cavalry troops.

CENICEROS DENIES BREAK WITH OROZCO

Jenaro Ceniceros, private secretary to Gov. Abram Genzalez while he was minister of the interior of Mexico, and lately secretary of the municipal government of Juarez, has arrived in El Paso, It has been reported in Mexico City papers that Ceniceros had been killed by order of Orozco and his long absence had led people to believe this was true.

"It is absolutely faise that I had any trouble with Orozco," he said. "I never have been an Orozquista and when working in Juarez was simply an employe of the office without being in accord with any political party. When Orozco rose up against the established government of Mexico I was the first to tell him not to revolt."

Mr. Ceniceros says that he will go before the senatorial investigation committee which is now in session before senator W. A. Smith and tell it something of the revolution if the committee wishes to have him.

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 3.—Yaqui, indians favoring the rebellion have taken to the war path, adding new terrors to the rebel harassed reshients of Sonora along the Southern Pacific railroad.

A band of 100 indians raided Realito, a hamlet on the Yaqui river, Saturday night and carried away one of the village officials. Then they attacked Colonia, near the Southern Pacific headquarters at Empaime, and killed two men, one woman and a child and wounded another woman.

A federal guard comparising, an offiwounded another woman.

A federal guard comprising an officer and 12 men were at the Empaime railway station when the attack was made, and they immediately made off on foot towards Colonia.

The soldiers met the inhabitants of Colonia fleeing before the indians towards Empaime, and because the non-combatants were between their pursuers and rescent the latter were unsucrs and rescuers, the latter were un-able to direct an effective fire into the Yaquis. The indians, however, sent Yaquis. The indians, however, sent a brisk fire into the townspeople and

These cowmen are deputized by the New Mexico authorities, are armed and have orders to prevent the rebels from looting any American ranches.

This report was brought by bishop This report was brought by bishop O. P. Brown from Hachita, N. M., Monday. Bishop Brown had been to Hachita to show the Mexican federal officers the horses which they wished to buy for the federal cavalry. He says that Salazar was camped at Gavlondo ranch, just across the line fence from Lang's ranch, and that he had 1000 horses there, many of which were recognized by constructions. ognized by Americans as those which had been taken from the Lang and other ranches on the American side. Bishon Brown says that Salazar wanted to cross the line and go to a small store on the Lang ranch to purchase tobacco and other small quanti-ties of supplies. The cowmen told him that if he crossed, he would be shot, the bishop says, and they refused to purchase the tobacco for him. Henry Gaibraith, brotheriniaw of bishop Galbraith, brotheriniaw of bishop Brown, talked with Salazar on the Mexican side, as did Walter Burchfield, of the Victoria Land and Cattle company, who went to see Salazar from Hachita in an auto, on Friday, Salazar told the Americans that he was going to Nacozari and, after taking that camp, would proceed to El Tigre, and from there to Sinaloa. He said he was waiting there for 250 more rebels to join him from the mountain district of Chihuahua, which were expected to come Saturday.

WANTS TO MOVE MEXICAN TROOPS

Gen. Sanjines Attempting to Move His Yaqui Soldiers Through the United States to Sonora.

Gen. Sanjines and his staff of officers were in El Paso Monday in an effort to arrange for the transportation of Mexican federal troops through the United States from Pelea. N. M., to Nogales, Son. It was said by members of Gen. Sanjines's staff that permission had been obtained from Washington for the sending of the troops through the United States and that they would be loaded at Pelea, in order to avoid any friction at this point on the border. The troops will go as common laborers, with their arms in bonded cars, according to the report.

No advice had been received Monday afternoon by Gen. E. Z. Steever or by the immigration service here regarding the passing of these troops through the United States.

The troops of Gen. Sanjines are begales, Son. It was said by members of

CONSUL'S MEN DOG SENATOR'S FOOTSTEPS

Secret service men said to be in the employ of the Mexican consul in El Paso keep a close and constant watch on senator William Alden Smith, who is here to make an investigation of Mexican affairs, and upon all of the members of his party.

The men who are called for the hearing are reported to the consul, who has a number of Americans in his employ, including one former newspaper reporter. They haunt the Sheldon looby and balls trying to find out what is in progress in the senator's suite of rooms on the parlor floor.

Sunday afternoon while one of the senator's party was sitting in the lobby talking with a friend, three of the consul's spies passed through the lobby at least three times. The consul himself finally appeared and one of his sleuths dashed up to him, whispered something in bis off ear and disappeared, only to return and make a second and more important report that the senator was eating a man's size portion of chicken a la Maryland in the cafe.
